DEATH OF SAMUEL J. BOYD

Fell From a Second Story Window and Was Killed.

Mr. Samuel J. Boyd, one of Wheeling's oldest and most respected citizens met his death yesterday morning about 4.30 o'clock, by falling from the second story window of his home, 2145 Chapline street. He had gone to the bath room, which is located in the rear of the house, and while he leaned out of the window, which was raised, he lost his balance and was precipitated to the stone stairway of the cellar entrance, about thirty feet below.

His moans of pain failed to arouse the inmates of the household, as their sleeping apartments were to the front of the house. Mr. Robinson, who lives next door, heard the cries of the suffering man, and he rose and discovered Mr. Boyd upon the steps. The unfortunate man was taken to his room, and Drs. Ackerman and Campbell summoned, but Mr. Boyd's injuries and the shock he sustained were too much for him, and he passed away about 6 o'clock. He was in his seventy-fourth year.

For the past week he had been in poor health, yet the unexpected and sudden manner of his taking off was a sad blow to his family, and to the many friends and acquaintances throughout the city. The funeral, which occurs to-morrow afternoon, will doubtless be largely attended. Mr. Boyd was born in Washington, D. C., January 15, 1824, his father coming from a prominent New York family, and being a playmate of Martin Van Buren. While quite a young man Mr. Boyd moved to Ohio, engaging in general merchandise business at Graceland, Cumberland, and other towns. He located in Wheeling in 1855, and has since resided here. At first he conducted a dry goods and hardware business on Main street, but from 1866 to 1876, he was engaged in the shoe business. Since 1876 he has lived a retired life. He was a director of the People's bank. His son, Edgar E. Boyd, survives him.

ABOUT PEOPLE

Strangers in the City and Wheeling Folks Abroad.

J. C. McGrew, of Kingwood, is at the Windsor.

W. Holden was a Clarksburger at the Stamm yesterday.

J. E. Thomas, Montgomery, figures on the Windsor register.

P. J. Hale and J. R. Hawks, of Parkersburg, are at the McLure.

Baltimore & Ohio Superintendent R. W. Shearer and his daughter, of Grafton, were registered at the McLure.

The family of J. E. Giffin, the photographer, arrived in the city Saturday and will make Wheeling their future home.

August Rippel, the well known Sistersville barber, is afflicted with rheumatism at his home on the South Side, and his condition is not improving.

W. E. Timblin, Smithfield; John B. Stein, Webster Springs, and John Baintine, Morgantown, and J. F. Lazear, Sistersville, are West Virginians at the Howell.

Frank P. Bradley, better known as Hadden Temise, was in town yesterday. Frank is an old time newspaper man, and his fun is always welcome in the sanctuary.

There are Frogs and Toads.

Ollie Reed, salesman for Hannan Bros., cigar makers, got badly fooled by the boys at camp at the Fulton club house, out Wheeling creek, whom he visited the last few days. They told him that there was a gold mine along the creek banks for frog hunters, and that the market price of frogs was unusually high at present. Ollie saw frogs in abundance, heard their basso profundo notes in abundance, so he concluded he'd bring a few of the amphibians into the city and reap the harvest. The boys helped him catch them. Yesterday morning with a barrel full of big-eyed frogs, as he thought, Ollie drove into the city. He was thinking of property when he struck Patsy Gavin, but there are frogs and there are toads, and the discomfited Ollie had to dump his toads in a back alley and his only pleasure was to watch them skip the gutters.

Taken to Washington.

George Stroinsider, wanted in Washington, D. C., to answer charges of swindling, left for there early this morning, on the Baltimore & Ohio midnight express, in charge of Deputy U. S. Marshal McMahon. At the depot, Stroinsider refused to go, without seeing the necessary papers. McMahon had to leave the train, and got Lieut. Supler to get the papers. Supler telephoned to hold the train, which was done, and in a few minutes he had the papers, after which Stroinsider had no further objections.

A. H. Patter, with E. C. Atkins & Company, Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "I have never before given a testimonial in my life. But I will say that for three years we have never been without Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house, and my wife would as soon think of being without flour as a bottle of this Remedy in the summer season. We have used it with all three of our children and it has never failed to cure—not simply stop pain, but cure absolutely. It is all right, and anyone who tries it will find it so." HE IS CAUGHT.

The Man Suspected of the Tyler County Murder Captured

BY A MOUNDSVILLE POLICEMAN

Yesterday Afternoon—He Denies His Guilt but the Sheriff of Tyler County and Others Say He is the Man They Want. He will be Taken to Sistersville, and Thence to Middletown, this Morning. The Murdered Man Identified.

Yesterday, a man who gave as his name Seth Hill, was arrested in Moundsville, charged with the murder of the man Crull, from Richmond, Va., who was waylaid and killed a few days ago in the interior oil fields and his body brought to the Ohio river and thrown in, with the result that it was found near Sistersville last week. The man arrested denies his guilt, but the Tyler county authorities say he is the man they want and whom they believe committed the crime.

The arrest took place yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock at McFadden's livery stable, and was made by Officer Evans, of the Moundsville police force, who, therefore, gets the $200 reward offered for the arrest. Sheriff Pyle had come up to Moundsville yesterday, having heard that the man he was after was at or about Moundsville. The man Hill answers the description of Irving Brown, the cousin of the wife, who was with the murdered man when he left Richmond, Va., for Sistersville.

The arrest was made by the policeman while Sheriff Pyle and Congressman Doveney, who happened to be in town, were driving. Hill came to the livery stable and there it was that Evans nabbed him. He came to Moundsville, Thurstall, and has been in the neighborhood since then. While in Moundsville he took a lot of clothing to a laundry. The clothes were covered with mud. He represented to the laundry people that he was a drover and had just come in from a trip buying cattle.

When searched at the jail last evening, he had $3.85 in money, a gold watch and a silver watch, more important than all else, five or six letters directed to J. M. Crull, the man who was killed. He also had a pocket book marked with Ernest Brown's name. He strenuously denied his guilt and said he lives near Grafton. Last night he employed W. M. Meighen, of Moundsville, to defend him at a hearing, which it was thought would be held to-day. Later, however, it is learned that Chief of Police King, of Sistersville, had a warrant sworn out yesterday before Squire Hlesom of that town, which he will serve on Hill or Brown and take him from Moundsville to Sistersville on the early Ohio River train this morning.

It is learned that Hill or Brown was in East Wheeling yesterday and that he traded or sold a horse to a meat dealer in that part of the city. The Wheeling police did not know then that the man was wanted for murder.

The mystery has been cleared up, and the supposition that it was a prominent liverman of Richmond, Va., J. M. Crull, is correct. Yesterday afternoon, Nelson Crull arrived in Sistersville from Richmond, and after a look over the things found in the wagon, he said that it was the same one with which his father left Richmond on May 29. As soon as Crull arrived in Sistersville, he was taken in charge by the authorities, and every effort was made to keep the matter quiet, as it was thought best not to let the public know that the body would be exhumed. The body was taken up between 5 and 6 o'clock last evening and a more thorough examination of it made. As soon as the young man saw the left hand of the body, he exclaimed that there was no doubt of it being his father. He stated that it was unnecessary to go any further, but the body was examined thoroughly, and it was found that in addition to the bullet wounds, which were noticed under the right ear, when the floater was found in the river, that his face and breast had been beaten with a blunt instrument, possibly with the axe, which was found in the wagon on which there was a lot of clotted blood.

MONROE COUNTY MURDER.

A Knife Used by John Mercer Causes the Death of Russell Carrick.

There was a murder in Monroe county, Ohio, early Sunday morning, the result of a foolish quarrel between John Mercer and Russell Carrick, each about 25 years old. Mercer cut Carrick's throat with a trifling slash of his pocket knife, severing the carotid artery and causing death in a few minutes. The men had been at a Saturday night dance at Chaei Hill, in Seneca township, Monroe county, and were on the road home when they got into a dispute as to which one had the fastest horse. The quarrel was kept up and one word brought on another until they finally came to blows, and during the fight Mercer pulled his knife and cut Carrick's throat, as stated. He died in a few minutes. Mercer was arrested Sunday afternoon and was lodged in jail at Woodsfield under charge of murder in the second degree. The affair created great excitement in the neighborhood, and the man charged with the murder will be held until he can have a hearing. Carrick was a foolish case, but Carrick was unarmed. He had no weapon of any kind, and there was no probability of a murder until Mercer pulled his knife and made the awful slash.

A Horse Case.

From the shades of Boggs' Run last night, came one of those horse cases that try men's souls—Squire Fitzpatrick tried it, and, with the aid of an interpreter, fathomed the depths sufficiently to disentangle the case at the costs of the plaintiff, Mike Francis. Mike sued Theodore Miller for $7. He paid him this sum for a horse, which he afterwards tried to trade off, but lost several dollars in the attempt. The horse had sponges in his nose, and Mike wanted his money back. But he didn't get it, and was forced to pay the costs. There were a host of foremen examined, and the defendant, Miller, said that originally he paid $2 for the horse.

HUNDREDS of thousands have been induced to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy by reading what it has done for others, and having tested its merits for friends. For sale by druggists.

A Stomach Remedy.

Is as essential to physical health as is to political consistency. For weakness of the back, rheumatism, and disorders of the kidneys, the tonic and diuretic action of Hostetter's Stomach Bitter is the one thing needed. The stomach is the mainstay of every other organ, and by invigorating the digestion with this preparation, the spinal column and all its dependencies, are sympathetically strengthened. The dyspeptic and bilious will find it a pure vegetable stimulant and tonic.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitter. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey or other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding nature in the performance of the digestive function. It gives an excellent appetite, and a digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price fifty cents and $1 per bottle at Logan Drug Co.'s drug store.

GERMANIA SAVING BANK.

The Handsome Banking Room About Finished.

The pretty new banking establishment of the Germania Half-Dollar Bank, at No. 1561 Market street, is finished and will be occupied before the close of the week. While the work of remodeling and fitting up this room has taken some time, it will repay all labor absorbed. It is generally conceded to be one of the most inviting banking houses in the city. Mr. George Hook, its energetic president, has left nothing undone to make this institution a credit to the city. To give a partial description of this revolutionized building, it may be said that the foundation is of solid masonry, the brick-work of the walls re-pointed and painted, new windows opened on the alley, a new floor of hard wood and tile laid, one of the strongest and best vaults in the city, faced on the outside with white glazed brick, built, the lower portion of the walls wainscoted in hard wood and the upper portion and ceiling in handsome sheet steel designs, an entire new front put in, the distinguishing feature of which is a large plate glass window, and the entire building painted snow white, making it a conspicuous and beautiful edifice. In the banking room the furniture and fittings are of polished oak, in handsome design, and the bank is well equipped with every appliance and device which can add in any degree to the safety of funds entrusted to its care or facilitate the transaction of business, either from the standpoint of the public or the officials. The vault is a splendid and massive structure, built of fire brick laid in cement, twenty-six inches thick, and is, as well as the immense chrome steel safe and outside and inside vault doors, also 102 safety deposit boxes to be contained therein, are the work of the celebrated Diebold Safe and Lock Company, of Canton, O., who, by the way, are the only contractors outside of the limits of this city on banking fixtures. The Germania Half-Dollar Bank is wholly a home institution, incorporated by Wheeling people, and doing business for its own stockholders, depositors, friends and general patrons, and all the work, with the exception of the steel safe and vault fittings, was done here at home, and the vault would have been done here, too, had there been such a manufacturing concern in Wheeling. That this assertion is a fact, the following list of contractors will attest: Slate and tiling, R. F. Caldwell, Wheeling; plumbing, Trimble & Lutz, Wheeling; brick-work for vault, Hamilton Bros., Wheeling; carpenter work, McDonald, Wheeling; steel ceiling work, Caldwell & Peterson Manufacturing Company, Wheeling; plastering, Stoetzer & Cramer, Wheeling; bank furniture, R. Schoepner, Wheeling; painting and glazing, D. C. Kurner, Wheeling; stone work, F. Yanit, Wheeling; architects, Franzheim, Giesey & Faris, Wheeling.

The bank is officered by such well known gentlemen as George Hook, President, and Paul O. Reymann, vice president, assisted by the following board of directors: George Hook, Paul O. Reymann, A. G. Hadlich, Chris. Viewig, Jr., F. C. Driehorst, L. S. Good, Charles M. Oliver, Jr., E. M. Holliday, W. O. McCluskey, H. F. Jones and J. McCann. The room will be open for public inspection within a day or two, and all patrons and friends of the Germania, as well as the general public, are invited to call.
